

Usability Test Script

What is this site about? What do you think the purpose of this site is?

Go ahead and register with: bmcomber as your username—What happened? Was the error message what you expected?

Now create your own account (remember your username and password)

Figure out how to post a link— Where did the link go? Where do you think it should go?

Now that you've posted a link, can you find your history of posts?

Can you think of any sites that are similar to ours? How do they compare?

What can we do to improve your usability experience?

What do you think about the style of our site thus far?

Other general suggestions for improvement?
